

McKinley Resources, Inc. and Enantis Announce a New Distribution Partnership

Dallas, TX - October, 15, 2025 - McKinley Resources Inc., a trusted leader and supplier of skin care, hair care and OTC active ingredients is excited to announce a new partnership with Enantis, a biotechnology company based in Brno, Czech Republic. Through this new collaboration, McKinley Resources will serve as the distribution partner in North America and other select regions for FGF2-STAB®, Enantis' game-changing stabilized fibroblast growth factor 2 polypeptide.

FGF2-STAB® is a next-generation growth factor designed to overcome one of the biggest challenges in formulation: instability. While traditional FGF2 breaks down quickly, FGF2-STAB® is engineered to deliver exceptional thermal and biological stability – meaning longer shelf life, easier formulation, and superior performance. This innovation unlocks exciting possibilities for advanced skin care, regenerative medicine, and personal care products.

"We're absolutely thrilled to welcome Enantis as a partner," said John Oliver, CEO of McKinley Resources Inc. "FGF2-STAB® is an extraordinary ingredient that aligns perfectly with our mission to bring the world's most innovative and effective solutions to our customers. By combining Enantis' groundbreaking technology with our deep industry relationships, we're empowering brands to create products that truly stand out."

Through this new partnership, formulators will have direct access to this premium, high-performance ingredient – backed by McKinley's trusted and exceptional support and service along with the proven results of Enantis' ingredients.
